

14. Run the GPS antenna, the proper place for it requires you to remove the dash completely. Rather than do that I removed the center channel speaker (pop the cover off, remove the 4 screws and disconnect the wiring harness) and wedged it between the duct work and the dash pad, the GPS antenna will work fine as long as there isn't metal above it. I used a little glue gun & electrical tap, it should never move. Run the wire down and keep it handy because it'll need to connect to the head unit. Here is a picture from the top as well as from the inside.
